

Current context

Global equity markets continued their upward climb during the first quarter of 2024, building on the strong performance of the previous year. Gains were broad-based, with the technology sector again providing outsized returns. Areas of the market poised to benefit from the boom in artificial intelligence (AI) continued to be a key theme. Several other themes also shaped the narrative of the first quarter. It is becoming more widely accepted that inflation – and consequently, interest rates – are likely to remain higher for longer. Economic growth continues to exceed expectations, with the US successfully averting a recession in the first quarter. However, the global bond markets had a much more challenging quarter due to an uptick in bond yields, driven by the outlook for higher interest rates and ongoing uncertainty about inflation.

We have seen a continued divergence between emerging and developed equity market performances over the quarter. The MSCI World Index had a strong quarter rising by 9%, and an impressive 25% over the past year. In contrast, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index saw a more modest rise of 2% for the quarter and 8% for the past year. Global bonds didn't fare well, with the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Bond Index ending the quarter down 2% and remaining mostly flat over one year. Brent crude oil saw a significant increase, surging by 14% over the quarter and 10% over the past 12 months.

The local experience contrasted starkly with global trends. The local market faced declines, particularly dragged down by the financial sector. Economic growth remains tepid, and inflation consistently exceeded the midpoint of the South African Reserve Bank's (SARB's) target range. In turn, the central bank held interest rates steady, in line with expectations. Local market sentiment continued to be dampened by uncertainties surrounding the upcoming national elections, which cast doubts on the future direction of the economy.

Given a weak economic domestic backdrop, South African assets did not ride the global wave of strong performance delivered by developed markets. The South African rand (ZAR) weakened by 3% against the US dollar, with a total decline of 6% over one year. Domestic equities also struggled, with the JSE All Share Index (ALSI) dropping 2% in local currency terms, although it managed a slight increase of 2% over the past 12 months. Domestic bonds followed global trends, with the All Bond Index (ALBI) declining 2% in local currency terms for the quarter and achieving a 4% gain year on year.

Our perspective

We are witnessing a rapidly changing global landscape, where investment strategies that have worked well in the recent past may not be appropriate to effectively preserve and grow capital going forward. Escalating geopolitical risks, more persistent and volatile inflation, and extreme market concentration dominated by a few large mega-cap technology companies are reshaping the investment landscape. Additionally, there is a notable underinvestment in the real sectors of the global economy and in natural resources. To navigate these challenges, we opt for highly selective US-centric exposures, investments in real assets, and a valuation-sensitive approach to investing. The current market concentration creates a fertile environment for differentiated active management, offering substantial opportunities ahead.

Emerging markets have underperformed during the 13-year bull run of the US dollar and US financial assets. In South Africa, amid high interest rates, elevated inflation, ongoing infrastructure failures and considerable capital outflows, we find ourselves at crisis valuations. This context allows us to identify long-term winners very selectively at exceptionally attractive valuations within a volatile environment.

Our portfolios are diversified and well positioned to navigate these conditions, underlining the importance of a long-term view and the value that a differentiated active manager can add during these pivotal global macro inflection points.

Portfolio performance*

Over the quarter, the PSG Balanced Fund returned -1.8% versus the benchmark return of 2.3%. The main detractors to performance were Pepco Group NV, Discovery Ltd and Prudential plc (all three saw stock-specific weakness this quarter despite excellent earnings growth potential, and seem to be severely undervalued at current share prices). In light of approaching elections, the fund's exposure to South African bonds and equities also proved a headwind to performance, lagging global markets over the quarter. On the positive side, the fund's holdings in Hiscox Ltd, Babcock International Group plc and Beazley plc were the largest contributors to performance. The fund's largest security purchases during the quarter were Hong Kong listed Budweiser Brewing Company APAC Ltd, CK Hutchison and Yum China Holdings. We also have been gradually buying domestic equities into weakness. The largest sales were seen in Quilter plc (which we have now fully exited), AVI Limited and Grindrod Limited. The fund is suitable for investors with an investment term of 5 years and longer. Over the short-term returns can be volatile and for this reason it is important to measure fund returns over the relevant investment term. Over the 5-year time horizon, the fund returned 10.7% p.a. versus the benchmark return of 10.1% p.a. Since inception, the fund has produced an annual return of 9.5% compared to the benchmark return of 10.4%.

Disclaimer

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) or the investment may go down as well as up and past performance is not a guide to future performance. Fluctuations or movements in the exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. CIS are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The portfolio may borrow up to 10% of its market value to bridge insufficient liquidity. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio, the portfolio is exposed to risks such as potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax, settlement and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The portfolios may be capped at any time in order for them to be managed in accordance with their mandate. PSG Collective Investments (RF) Limited does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the portfolio. Due to rounding, numbers presented throughout this document may not add up precisely to the totals provided.

Regulation 28

The fund is managed according to Regulation 28 of the Pension Funds Act. The South African retirement fund industry is governed by the Pension Funds Act No. 24 of 1956. Regulation 28 of the Pension Funds Act prescribes the maximum limits in asset classes that an approved retirement fund may invest in. Exposures in excess of the limits will be corrected immediately, except where due to a change in the fair value or characteristic of an asset, e.g. market value fluctuations, in which case they will be corrected within a reasonable time period.

Performance

All performance data for a lump sum, net of fees, include income and assumes reinvestment of income on a NAV to NAV basis. Annualised performances show longer term performance rescaled over a 12-month period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investor performance may differ as a result thereof. The portfolio is valued at 15h00 daily. Cut-off time is determined by the platform. Income distributions are net of any applicable taxes. Actual annual figures are available to the investor on request. Prices are published daily and available on the website www.psg.co.za/asset-management and in the daily newspapers. Figures quoted are from Morningstar Inc.

Pricing

Forward pricing is used. Unit trust prices are calculated on a net asset value (NAV) basis, which is the market value of all assets in the Fund including income accruals less permissible deductions divided by the number of units in issue.

Redemptions

The ability of a portfolio to repurchase is dependent upon the liquidity of the securities and cash of the portfolio. To protect investors, a manager may suspend repurchases for a period, subject to regulatory approval, to await liquidity. A suspension ensures that the sale of a large number of units will not force PSG Collective Investments to sell the underlying investments at a price in the market which could have a negative impact on investors. PSG Collective Investments will keep all investors informed should a situation arise where such suspension is required.
