

Current context

Emerging markets have underperformed dramatically in 2018, weighed down by rising US interest rates and turmoil in countries like Turkey and Argentina. This backdrop has seen the rand depreciate to the extent that it is trading weaker than it was before the ANC elective conference in December 2017. Domestic assets have suffered sharp declines this year and many are trading at or near multi-year lows.

We have also witnessed wide divergences in the performances of various global equity markets. The US stock market and economy have continued to perform strongly, with the S&P 500 returning 10.6% for the year to date. In contrast, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index has lost 7.7% and is approaching 20% declines from January highs. The FTSE/JSE All Share Index is down 3.8% year to date, and the FTSE/JSE Shareholder Weighted Index is 8% lower, extending the poor returns of the past four years.

Investor confidence in South Africa matches the gloomy economic backdrop and many domestic assets are trading at or near multi-year lows. Many well-owned stocks on the JSE, including the likes of Steinhoff, MTN, Aspen, Tiger Brands, Mediclinic and Woolworths, have disappointed in recent years and endured aggressive sell-offs. In most cases, starting valuations were high. We continue to avoid stocks that incorporate very high expectations, particularly when we consider how cheaply much of the market trades.

Locally, the growth outlook remains weak. This will continue to place pressure on the fiscus, as revenue collection is unlikely to show significant improvement. Furthermore, expectations for shorter-term inflation have risen: in addition to the weaker rand, oil prices have continued to climb (recently resulting in dramatic petrol price increases) and the cost of electricity is also expected to rise over the next four years. This is on the back of the National Energy Regulator's decision to allow Eskom to claw back certain costs, starting with an increase of about 4% by April 2019. The market is now looking to the upcoming medium-term budget policy statement on 24 October 2018, as it is expected to provide key direction on growth initiatives and government's capacity to meet fiscal targets.

Our perspective

We apply a repeatable investment process, according to which we allocate capital to securities we consider undervalued and take profits where prices are high. The prevailing fear in local markets has given rise to the opportunity to buy higher-quality stocks (particularly mid-cap industrials) and bonds at wide discounts to what we think they are worth. Similarly, global stock markets continue to be characterised by very wide divergences in valuations. This bodes well for returns for investors who are prepared to invest in uncrowded stocks and take a long-term view.

In local fixed income markets, interest rates offered by negotiable certificates of deposit (NCDs) are at similar levels to November 2017, when political and fiscal uncertainty was at an all-time high. 12-month NCDs are yielding roughly 8.3% and 60-month NCDs around 9.3%, an attractive real yield given the latest inflation number of 4.9% (August 2018). The market has therefore started to build in expectations of significant interest rate increases, guided by a more hawkish tone from the South Africa Reserve Bank (SARB). (At the SARB's Monetary Policy Committee meeting in September, three members voted to increase the repo rate.) While we believe that the bar for interest rate cuts has risen significantly in the short term, we do not expect the SARB to hike as aggressively as the market has begun to price in. As such, the margin of safety on money market interest rates has increased.

Portfolio positioning

The fund retains healthy exposure to cheap domestic stocks. Due to the combination of low levels of earnings and bear market valuations, we expect excellent long-term returns from this component of the portfolio. Specifically, the fund has continued to add to its Old Mutual position after the unbundling of Quilter, partly funded by a selling of Nedbank. We perceive significant positive asymmetry at current share prices – very limited downside and healthy upside.

Elevated valuations and high levels of profits of popular global stocks – particularly in the US – have seen us reallocate direct offshore exposure towards less crowded ideas in recent times. The global stocks the fund owns trade at healthy discounts to our assessments of intrinsic value. 5.8% of the fund is directly invested offshore.

Rising yields have also seen us add to South African government bond positions. We think that aggressive selling by foreigners has provided the opportunity for equity-like returns from long-dated bonds. It is our view that risk is underwritten by the track record and credibility of the SARB in sustainably anchoring inflation expectations within the target band. We have also swapped some of our shorter-dated NCDs for longer-dated, higher-yielding counterparts.

Cash levels remain healthy, with the fund holding 43% in cash and NCDs. This is dry powder that we expect to employ if the opportunities we currently see in many domestic securities become more widespread.

Disclaimer

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) or the investment may go down as well as up and past performance is not a guide to future performance. Fluctuations or movements in the exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. CIS are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The Fund may borrow up to 10% of its market value to bridge insufficient liquidity. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio, the portfolio is exposed to risks such as potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax, settlement and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The portfolios may be capped at any time in order for them to be managed in accordance with their mandate. Excessive withdrawals from the portfolio may place the portfolio under liquidity pressures and in such circumstances a process of ring-fencing of withdrawal instructions and managed payouts over time may be followed. PSG Collective Investments (RF) Limited does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the portfolio. Due to rounding, numbers presented throughout this document may not add up precisely to the totals provided.

Regulation 28

The fund is managed according to Regulation 28 of the Pension Funds Act. The South African retirement fund industry is governed by the Pension Funds Act No. 24 of 1956. Regulation 28 of the Pension Funds Act prescribes the maximum limits in asset classes that an approved retirement fund may invest in. Exposures in excess of the limits will be corrected immediately, except where due to a change in the fair value or characteristic of an asset, e.g. market value fluctuations, in which case they will be corrected within a reasonable time period.

Performance

All performance data for a lump sum, net of fees, include income and assumes reinvestment of income on a NAV to NAV basis. Annualised performances show longer term performance rescaled over a 12 month period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investor performance may differ as a result thereof. The portfolio is valued at 15h00 daily. Income distributions are net of any applicable taxes. Actual annual figures are available to the investor on request. Prices are published daily and available on the website www.psg.co.za/asset-management and in the daily newspapers. Figures quoted are from Morningstar Inc.

Pricing

Forward pricing is used. Unit trust prices are calculated on a net asset value (NAV) basis, which is the market value of all assets in the Fund including income accruals less permissible deductions divided by the number of units in issue.

Yield

The yield for the portion attributable to fixed income instruments is calculated daily on an annualised basis and is based on the historic yield of the fixed income instruments. The fund returns include returns from property and equity instruments.
