8. Your ability to access communications

When accepting our terms and conditions, you acknowledge that you have the capability to access the Communications.

9. Consent to electronic communications

When accepting our terms and conditions, you consent to having all Communications provided or made available to you in electronic form.

10. Consent to executing transactions electronically

When accepting our terms and conditions, you consent to executing the Agreement and Transactions by electronic record and/or electronic signature.

General PSG Wealth Trading and Investment Platform disclaimer

The web portal PSG Wealth trading and investment platform has developed certain online financial planning programs, designed as 'self-help' tools for people who choose to personally and in the comfort of their own home or office, determine their investment and insurance strategies and objectives.

As the nature of investing and insurance involves certain elements of risk, we urge you to take the time to read, study and understand this disclaimer.

Should you make use of the Online Financial Planning tools on this site and make any investment decision based on the outcome of the tool, you choose not to make use of an expert adviser and accordingly accept full responsibility and assume all risk for any loss, harm or damage caused by your use and reliance on the information so provided by the online financial planning tools on this site.

You furthermore understand and accept that the acceptance of insurance cover and underwriting is dependent on the accuracy and complete disclosure of the information required to be so disclosed by the site and/or telephone consultant tasked with activating your insurance.

Obtaining expert advice is always recommended and we encourage all users, whether existing clients or not, to consult with their financial planner/adviser before making any decisions based on the outcomes or information generated by the tools or programs available on this website and its links.

As no advice is given for insurance or investment purposes and as the programs and tools are only designed to reflect potential outcomes based on the information you are responsible for accurately and honestly providing, PSG Financial Services, its affiliates or holding company, including its directors, employees and contractors from time to time, do not accept any form of liability whatsoever, for any loss, liability or damage suffered, whether direct or consequential, resulting or ensuing from the use of or reliance on the programs, tools, online insurance quote tools and information contained in this site or any links from this site.

PSG Wealth trading and investment platform always strives to stay abreast of the latest legislative and financial industry updates. We furthermore strive to correctly and accurately reflect all information.

However, financial information is constantly changing and quickly becomes outdated. Accordingly, all information on this site is provided 'as is' and no warranties, either expressly or implied can be given that any information is up to date or accurate. We caution and urge any users of this site, to verify the information contained and obtained on this site. Any harm caused or loss suffered, whether direct or consequential, as a result of a reliance on the information or programs available on this site is disclaimed.

Should you not fully understand the nature, effect or any provisions of the above disclaimer, you are cautioned not to proceed until such time as you have had your financial adviser or legal adviser explain the effect and consequences of this disclaimer.

Stop Orders disclaimer

PSG Wealth trading and investment platform provides stop order (also called stop loss) facilities for share or equity (EQT), single stock futures (SSF) and contract for difference (CFD) trading accounts and other products that might be added from time to time.

Stop orders have two components - a price watch that monitors the market for price movements above or below certain levels and a stop order that represents an actual order submitted to the market once the price watch criteria have been met.

Please note that stop orders are actual orders that will enter the market in the same direct way as any other order once the price watch criteria have been met and that we cannot guarantee that the order generated by the stop order will trade in the market.

Stop orders should be used with extreme caution, as they can create new positions even if they were originally entered to close existing positions. This could happen if the original existing positions have already been closed at the time that the stop order triggers.

For the same reason, stop orders can create duplicate orders if multiple stop orders were created and trigger at the same time - even if they were set at different price levels, depending on the underlying instrument price movement.

It is your responsibility to always cancel stop orders once you have closed existing positions, if it was your intention to close existing open positions. Stop orders can of course be used to open new positions in their own right, based on the price watch criteria.

Unless otherwise specified, stop orders are not guaranteed and will simply submit an order into the market at the price you have specified. If the market has moved beyond your order price, the order submitted might no longer find willing buyers or sellers in the market.

CFD and SSF stop orders that triggered are only active for the day on which they have triggered. The actual market orders produced by the stop orders expire at the end of the trading day.
